

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus is disclosed that can scan a page, detect the location and size of any devices or objects on the page, and then print information onto the 10 page without printing the information onto the located devices.